Comments on the NICE Interventional Procedures Consultation: Interventional Procedures Consultation: Electrochemotherapy for metastases in the skin (of non-skin origin and melanoma)

The British Association of Dermatologists can report that the only support for this technology is in palliation of difficult to manage metastatic melanoma that has not responded to other interventions. Electrochemotherapy is only used by very few of our members and under these specific circumstances. More randomised controlled studies are needed to ascertain whether electrochemotherapy would ever be an option for routine curative treatment.
