

Flexible training

As a well-structured outpatient based specialty with a relatively low on-call commitment, dermatology is well suited to flexible training. Currently there are almost 3000 flexible trainees in Medicine, which accounts for 6% of all trainees. In the 2007 RCP census 13% of all consultants were working less than full time (LTFT) and 45% of the SpRs/STRs in medical specialities were female, the percentage in dermatology being much higher.

Please visit the Less than Full Time Training page for further information:

<http://www.bad.org.uk/healthcare-professionals/education/dermatology-specialty-trainees/less-than-full-time-training>